Excerpt: . liver was of a healthy consistence and uniformly red colour; the gall bladder contained three ounces of a yellowish green bile, which flowed readily into the bowel when the gall bladder was pressed; the spleen and kidneys were healthy, except that a few drops of white purulent matter were squeezed out of the uriniferous tubes of the right kidney: the bladder was contracted into a small hard mass, about the size of a fig; its mucous membrane was white; it was quite empty. The heart was healthy: it contained a considerable quantity of viscid black blood; but how much, or in which of the cavities, could not be known, as it was accidentally cut into in the former part of the dissection. The lungs crepitated every where, and yet were firmer than is natural; they were uniformly of a dark red colour: no...
